TG Kentucky, LLC and Toyota joined together on October 10th to celebrate TG's 5 year Anniversary. In addition, they announced a $20,000 grant to the Lebanon, KY Centre Square project.

The Centre Square project is aimed at converting the old Lebanon Junior High School into a new community center. The grant is supporting an audio system for the gymnasium along with drapes for the windows.

"On behalf of the Centre Square Committee and the City of Lebanon, I express sincere appreciation to TGKY and Toyota for the generous donation to the Centre Square Project," said Roger L. Marcum, Centre Square Committee Chairman.

He added, "The development of Centre Square as a community center will enhance the quality of life for the citizens of Lebanon and Marion County. The educational, cultural, social and economic opportunities will be expanded greatly as a result of our work together."

Hajime Kojima, President of TGKY said "TG Kentucky is proud to be a part of the Lebanon and Marion county communities and equally proud to be affiliated with Toyota Motor Manufacturing. Our company and our people feel it is very important to give back to the community that we live and work in and the Centre Square project is a very worthwhile cause."

During the past five years, TGKY has been transforming raw materials into plastic and rubber automotive parts. They supply interior and exterior plastic parts, rubber parts and hoses to Toyota. TG's North American Headquarters is located in Troy, MI. Aichi Prefecture, Japan is the site of TG's parent plant, Toyoda Gosei Co., Ltd.
